

Computing technology beyond film and television production: from film restoration to content distribution

This talk will explore computing technology beyond traditional film and television production uses like visual effects and animation. The presentation will focus on how technology advancements have been impacting the industry in the areas of film restoration, digital content distribution and entertainment products.